

Press release, January 31, 2019

CONTROL ENGINEERING POLAND NOMINATES TOSIBOX® LOCK 500 FOR PRODUCT OF THE YEAR 2018

The high-performance connectivity device TOSIBOX® Lock 500 receives the honor to be nominated in the Wireless Communication category.

TOSIBOX® Lock 500 developed by the Finnish company Tosibox Oy has been nominated for the Polish Control Engineering magazine's Product of the Year 2018 Award. The magazine has announced the high-quality candidates determined by a professional preliminary jury. Winners will be chosen by the magazine's readers in a voting that will commence on January 31, 2019.

Tosibox has created and patented a simple and secure connectivity solution that does not require any special IT skills. Released to the market last year, the company's flagship product TOSIBOX® Lock 500 is a high-performance connectivity device created for demanding industrial environments where a secure way of transferring large amounts of data is essential.

Control Engineering Poland is a prestigious award program for new products within security, Industry 4.0 and more. TOSIBOX® Lock 500 was also shortlisted for the same magazine's US counterpart, the Control Engineering 2019 Engineers' Choice Award, where the voting ballot closed in December. The winners and honorable mentions of the competition will be announced in February 2019.

"We are proud to receive yet another recognition for the Lock 500, which strengthens the positive signal that we are also receiving from our satisfied customers. Poland is one of the many successful markets for us and our universally applicable technology. We have set ambitious objectives for international growth, and our team works hard to offer the best IoT connectivity solutions in the industry," says Jarno Limnell, CEO at Tosibox.

TOSIBOX® Lock 500 is available through Tosibox sales and distributors. For product information please visit tosibox.com/lock500.

More information

Jarno Limnell, CEO, +358 40 5276173, jarno.limnell@tosibox.com

About Tosibox

Tosibox Oy has taken connectivity and made it simple. TOSIBOX® solution is a game changer for secure IoT connectivity, remote maintenance and network management. The award-winning TOSIBOX® products are manufactured in Finland and used in more than 120 countries. www.tosibox.com